THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver....His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mint of camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns heureux undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review

SUPREME COURT OF JUDICATURE ACT, 1873, s. 75.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL OF JUDGES.

The Council of Judges of the Supreme Court, duly assembled in pursuance of the 75th section of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act, 1873, on the 17th, 21st, and 23rd days of June, 1892, having taken into consideration the operation of that Act and the Rules of Court, as appears from the Resolutions of the Council herewith enclosed, do hereby report to the Secretary of State that it would, in their judgment, be expedient to make such amendments in the Judicature Acts and otherwise as may be necessary for giving effect to the Resolutions aforesaid, as to which they subjoin the observations following:—

I. The Council are strongly of opinion that a Circuit system must be continued. The problem arises how to arrange for the constant presence of a sufficient number of Judges in London to provide for the continuous administration of justice, and at the same time for a sufficient attendance of Judges in the country to satisfy all reasonable local requirements.

The Council propose a plan with the object of sufficiently providing for the trial of causes in the country by Judges of the High Court and of securing the presence in London of never fewer than eight, and for the greater number of working days in the legal year of more than eight Judges of the Queen's Bench Division. The essential foundation of this scheme is the grouping on centres of country Civil Causes. If this cannot be done, the Council are of opinion that all the other alterations suggested will have but little effect, and that the most valuable part of the proposed reforms in the present administration of the law will be frustrated.

The Council are of opinion that a Criminal Assize ought to be held before a Judge of the Supreme Court in every county three times a year; in Liverpool and Manchester four times a year. But they recommend that the trial of Civil disputes in the country should be re-organised. At present Civil Causes are tried at 56 circuit towns twice a year. Resolutions 8 and 9 show the average number of Civil Causes tried at each. At 40 of the 56 the average number is so small that the sending of a Judge, or the keeping of a Judge there to try Civil Causes, is a waste of judicial time, which is injurious to the due administration of the law. Judges are thus employed unnecessarily in the country when their presence is imperatively required in London. The plan provides that the Civil Causes which are now tried at those 40 places should be tried at the 18 larger places named in the Resolutions above mentioned; the principle of allocation being convenience of access.

According to the scheme of the Council there should be a Criminal Assize in every county three times a year and a Civil Assize in every one of the centres appointed for the trial of Civil Causes twice a year; there being, however, at Leeds three Civil Assizes, and at Liverpool and Manchester four Criminal and Civil Assizes. It is recommended that the Judge who is trying Civil Causes at any centre should not leave until all the Civil Causes entered for trial there are disposed of; that a list of the number of causes to be tried on each day should be so arranged that notice can be given to each place from which a cause comes of the day on which it will be heard.

The times at which the Judges will leave London upon the Circuit Business, both Civil and Criminal, are approximately shown in the skeleton Circuit Papers attached to the Resolutions.

The result is that there will, as a rule, be in London eight Judges at least for Queen's Bench business, and a constant and uniform supply of the necessary Courts, Divisional or otherwise, for all business.

II. The Council propose to check unreasonable applications by the plaintiff under Order XIV. by directing the Master or Judge to award costs against him to be paid at once: and the Master or Judge will have power, when leave, conditional or unconditional, is given to defend, to direct the trial of the cause forthwith. If unconditional leave to defend is given, there will be no appeal.

If no judgment is allowed under Order XIV., the succeeding steps now taken on summons are often taken where there ought to be no dispute. The Council recommend that the remedy suggested by the Committee of 1881* should be adopted by extending the provisions of Order XXX., and rendering the procedure under it compulsory instead of optional. All the ordinary steps in a cause should be dealt with under one summons, to be taken out within a limited time. This summons, called a "Summons for Directions," ought to be taken out by the plaintiff within fourteen days after appearance, and the Master on the hearing of it ought to direct whether there should be pleadings or not in the case; whether there should be particulars, and, if any, what particulars; where the case should be tried, and by which form of trial; what admissions ought to be made; what interrogatories, if any, should be administered; what affidavit, if any, of documents should be allowed; what inspection, if any, should be granted; whether a commission to examine witnesses should be permitted, and to what extent and in what form; and whether less strict evidence as to certain facts should be permitted. If these directions are not complied with, or further directions are necessary, the matter can be reconsidered by the Master upon a two days' notice.

Complaint is made of delay, expense, and vexation by the abuse of interrogatories, of the affidavit of documents, of the inspection of documents, and of the demand of particulars. The Council propose to restore the method of dealing with interrogatories which was formerly followed by the Judge in Chambers. When leave was asked to administer interrogatories, they were in old times put before the Judge, and the nature of the dispute was stated to him. He saw at once which of the proposed interrogatories were fair and reasonable, and whether any were too involved and captious. He disallowed all unnecessary questions and allowed the rest, if any.

Expense, in the shape of particulars and otherwise, is often caused by the unreasonable denial or traverse of facts not really in controversy. The actual point in dispute is in many actions perfectly well known to both parties and their advisers. It is in such cases easily ascertained without the necessity of pleadings; when that is so, no pleading should be allowed. Much vexation is at present caused to men of business, and indeed to all suitors, by the necessity for an affidavit of documents and by the inspection of their books and correspondence. A severe control should be exercised over this abuse; and the inspection of books and correspondence should be limited in practice unless where some specific fraudulent concealment is suggested upon reasonable grounds.

III. As to the place of trial, the Council recommend that it should be determined by the Master or Judge upon the summons for directions. The trial must be in London or at one of the places appointed for the trials of Civil Causes on the Circuits. The governing consideration should be that a cause ought to be tried at the place where it can be tried most conveniently for all parties and most cheaply.

IV. With respect to trials in London, the Council recommend that there should be two Lists in which causes may be entered for trial in London in the Queen's Bench Division, one called the "List of Mercantile Causes," the other the "General List of Causes." The parties to a mercantile cause should be enabled, if they think fit, to enter their cause in the "Mercantile List;" but no other than a mercantile cause should be entered in that List. The Associate should be the authority to determine whether a cause proposed to be entered in that list is properly a Mercantile Cause. If not, it must be entered in the "General List of Causes."

The Mercantile List should be divided into two Lists, each to be tried by a Judge nominated to try Mercantile Causes. Two of the Judges ought to be selected by the Queen's Bench Division at their first meeting in the legal year to try Mercantile Causes for the ensuing legal year. Each of the two Judges should try the causes assigned to his List in their order until his List is exhausted except when he is engaged on circuit. But he ought to be empowered for special reasons to advance a cause and fix a day for its trial. The causes in the General List will be set down for trial as now.

V. In the Chancery Division many of the suggestions made by the Committee of 1885,* except those which depended on the appointment of an additional Judge, have been embodied in Rules of Court. The rule on the subject of adjournments of long appointments before a Chief Clerk has worked well, but adjournments are still too easily obtained. The extended application of originating summonses has proved very beneficial, and has greatly reduced the number of orders for the general administration of the estates of deceased persons and the general execution of trusts. In 1889-90 the writs issued were 3,249 and the originating summonses were 3,640. But still the business is blocked, particularly in the trial of witness actions, and the amount of business is very heavy: nor has the continuous trial of witness actions without adjournments been yet satisfactorily secured in any of the Chancery Courts, except in the one specially assigned for the hearing only of causes. Originating summonses, although very advantageous to the suitors, increase the work of the Judges in Chambers.

The further extension of this mode of proceeding is recommended, but this extension will render it still more difficult for the Judges who have Chambers to give time to witness actions. No order for general or partial administration or for the execution of trusts can now be made by a Chief Clerk; such orders can only be made by the Judge himself.

Witness actions in the Chancery Division are increasing. Many causes are taken into the Chancery Division to be tried which are not assigned to that Division, but might be tried in the Queen's Bench Division. Such actions when taken into the Chancery Division should be governed by the same procedure as in the Queen's Bench Division. A return has been made of the number of judgments and orders made in Court in the Chancery Division in the year 1891 on the trial of actions, on the hearing on further consideration, and on motions, petitions, and adjourned summonses.

The return is given thus: the orders made were—

Mr. J. Chitty	1,153
Mr. J. North	960
Mr. J. Stirling	1,084
Mr. J. Kekewich	1,012
Mr. J. Romer	466
Mr. J. V. Williams	68
The Vacation Judge	234
Total	5,005

In addition to these it is estimated that at least 4,000 orders, many of them final, were in the same year made in Chambers by the Judge in person.

In respect of these orders and judgments the Court of Appeal in 1891 heard 129 appeals from final judgments and 78 appeals from interlocutory orders. The amount of business is therefore enormous, and the Council are of opinion that the permanent aid of an additional Judge in that Division is essential. Without such aid the business of the Chancery Division cannot be brought under control. Four of the present Judges have each a staff of clerks to work out orders and judgments after they are made or given, and to do other work in Chambers. One of the present Judges has no such staff, but tries witness actions only. It is proposed that the additional Judge should have no staff of clerks; that he should try witness actions; that the orders and judgments of the two Judges who try witness actions, when it is necessary that they should be worked out, should be worked out in the Chambers of the four Judges who each have a staff, and that the preliminary steps of the witness actions should be dealt with in the same manner.

Besides many other recommendations dealt with in the resolutions, the Council recommend that the Chief Clerk should specifically take note of undue delay before them, and that by virtue of such note the costs caused by the delay should fall upon the party causing it should be disallowed as between solicitor and client.

They also recommend various details for checking the heavy penses incurred by protracted litigation in the administrati estates, which sometimes exhausts the whole of smaller estates costs; for giving the Judge discretion as to evidence in such ad tration cases; for extending the use of the originating summons for amalgamating the Chancery offices.

The Council have considered the question how the expense administering estates may be diminished. It is no longer obliga on the Judge to make a general order if the questions raised otherwise be properly determined. A very useful power has rece been conferred on the Judge of directing accounts to be delivered of Court, and this is frequently exercised. Orders for general adm tration are now comparatively rare. The Council are of opinion a new form of order may be advantageously introduced, analogo an order for winding up companies subject to the supervision o Court. An outline of the proposed new procedure will be found the Resolutions.

Administration judgments are now rendered necessary in cases in order to prevent one creditor from obtaining payme priority to others. The Council recommend that the law be so as to prevent this, and to secure a rateable payment when assets are insufficient to pay all creditors in full. They also reco that the right of an executor or administrator to retain his own preference to other creditors shall be abolished.

VI. The Council have considered the practice as to the taxati payment of costs which at present distinguishes costs as b solicitor and client from costs between party and party; and think that such distinction cannot be justified by reason. If the party in litigation ought to pay the costs of his successful opp he ought to pay all the costs reasonably incurred by that opp The costs taxed as between the parties ought therefore to incl the costs incurred by the successful party in the reasonable p tion of the dispute. As all the reasonable costs of the successful will be paid by the losing party, there ought to be no further payable by the successful party to his own solicitor, unless after warning and explanation he has elected to incur them.

VII. As to the question of Appeals, the Council find that in year 1891, as an example, there were in London 39,775 summ before the Masters, of which 3255 were taken to the Judge in Cham 506 to the Divisional Courts, and 51 thence to the Court of Ap Of the 51 cases so brought before the Court of Appeal not more 15 or 20 were with regard to mere matters of practice or proc And no case of that kind was taken to the House of Lords. In Liverpool Registry there were 1072 summonses (in the Queen's B Division) and in the Manchester Registry 192, and from t Registry was there more than an insignificant number of s Although the number of cases in which appeals in matters of p have been carried to several successive Courts does not appear the Council recommend that the opportunity of using so many of appeal should be taken away. The obligation to take out summons, "the Summons for Directions," instead of the secon summonses now in use, will do much. The Council recommend Appeals from a Master to a Judge when attended by Counsel o sides shall go into a list and be heard by a Judge in Court; an where the appeal is to be attended on one side by a solicit solicitor's clerk it shall be heard by a Judge in Chambers wh have power if he thinks fit to transfer it into Court. They reco further, that there should be no appeal from any interlocutory made by a Judge in Chambers or in Court without leave of a except in the following cases, which in their effect are too im to be determined by one decision of a single Judge. The ca cases are, where the liberty of the subject or the custody of in concerned; where judgment has been entered under Order X conditional leave to defend has been granted (there being no where unconditional leave to defend has been given); where an has been made for service of a writ out of the jurisdiction; or prohibition, and of injunctions and receiverships before jud cases of charging orders; and of commissions to take evidence They recommend also that there should be no appeal without the of the Court from any decision of a Divisional Court when it is as a Court of Appeal from a County Court, Revising Barrister, Referee, Taxing Master, &c.

The Council recommend that all appeals in matters of pra procedure from orders made by a Judge in Court or in Ch should in the Queen's Bench Division be to a Divisional Court Queen's Bench Division composed (with a view to maintain three Judges selected by that Division; that such appeals in the Chancery Division should (as at present) be to the Court of Appeal; that in matters of practice and procedure there should be no further appeal; that all interlocutory appeals from a Judge should be brought within eight days; appeals asking for a new trial or from a Divisional Court within 14 days; from final judgments within two calendar months.

Court to Review Sentences.

Besides the foregoing matters relating to the working of the Judicature Acts, the Judges of the Supreme Court have thought it their duty to consider that which is the most responsible and the most difficult part of the administration of the law, namely, the administration of the Criminal Law. A pressing question is, whether there should be a Court of Appeal in Criminal Cases; and what jurisdiction it should exercise. There is a great diversity in the sentences passed by different Courts in respect of offences of the same kind, where the circumstances are very similar. It is much to be desired that this diversity should be, if possible, avoided. It often happens when a person is convicted of a serious crime, and is sentenced to a severe punishment, and most frequently when a person is convicted of murder, that a petition is presented after having been circulated for signatures, and the Home Secretary is pressed to review the finding of the jury and the sentence of the Judge.

This review is not asked for on the ground of the exercise of the prerogative of mercy, but by way of appeal upon an assertion that the verdict or sentence was wrong. The request is really an appeal, and not merely a petition. That appeal throws at times more responsibility on the Home Secretary than any one man ought to have imposed upon him. After full consideration, the institution of a Court is recommended, having full jurisdiction to review and alter sentences, and a limited jurisdiction to assist the Home Secretary in reconsidering sentences or convictions at his request. As to sentences, the great object is to procure a greater uniformity than exists. A series of decisions by one Court would, by examples and the reasons given for them, tend to secure uniformity. The Court should, as far as possible, for long periods consist of the same Judges; it should be "a permanent Court," consisting of seven Judges of the Queen's Bench Division who go circuit, with a quorum of five. In order to procure rapidity of decision, the Court must be prepared to meet whenever necessary. The Resolutions drawn up on this subject have been framed with the view of affecting as much in the desired direction as appears at present to be practicable. The Judges think that it would be contrary to the fundamental rules of English Criminal Law to interfere with a verdict of acquittal. No man who is once acquitted should be put in danger again in respect of the same accusation. But the punishment inflicted on a convicted prisoner should, if justice requires it, be diminished, and the Court, on the hearing of such an application, should have power to increase the Applicant's sentence when the facts seem to need it. Any independent application to increase punishment should be made on the personal responsibility of the Attorney-General, who would only so apply in cases appearing to him to be of extreme or systematic inadequacy of sentence. It is necessary to give this power to the Attorney-General, to be exercised by him only in rare cases, because it would hardly be possible otherwise to attain and enforce a reasonable uniformity of sentences. An opportunity should be afforded to every prisoner of being heard, by himself or counsel, before his sentence is increased.

These proposals are made in the anticipation that the number of appeals will not be greater than the Court, constituted and acting as suggested, will be able to deal with. The nonpayment of costs, the possibility of an increased sentence, and, after a short time, the increased uniformity of sentences throughout the country and the consequent difficulty of obtaining an alteration, will prevent hopeless appeals. To prevent oppression the Council think that there ought not to be new trials in Criminal Cases; and that if the first conviction is wrong, the accused ought not to be put in jeopardy again. The Council desire that it should be distinctly understood that, in their opinion, the prerogative of mercy, as mercy would remain absolutely untouched.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE COUNCIL OF JUDGES.

CIRCUITS.

1. No change shall be made in the number of the Assizes for Criminal business or in the places for which such Assizes are held.

2. A Civil Assize shall not be held in every county of England and Wales, but a system of grouping the Civil business on centres throughout the different circuits shall be adopted, and the Civil business of those towns which are within a convenient distance of the Metropolis shall be brought there for trial.

If this system be adopted, and the Judge be sent to try only Civil Causes at those towns, 18 in number instead of 56 as now, it will be possible to have throughout the year in London eight Judges at the least.

3. The Civil and Criminal business at the centres selected for grouping shall be conducted by two Judges, who shall leave London and return approximately at the dates set forth in the circuit forms annexed hereto. Upon their return the Judges who are to try the prisoners at the Criminal Assizes shall go as set forth in the same forms. If this be done, there will be always a sufficient staff of Judges in London, and one of the great complaints now made against the single-Judge system, i.e., that it is not known with any certainty when the Civil business will begin and whether there will be time to try the causes entered, will cease to exist.

4. Power shall be given to the sheriff of the county in which Civil Causes are tried to take a jury to view in any other county.

5. At the centres a daily cause list shall be made out, as is now done at Liverpool, Manchester, and other large Assize towns, so that no more than the requisite number of witnesses need be at an Assize town at once. The impossibility of doing this in Criminal Cases (for every witness has to be in the Assize town on the first or at any rate the second day to go before the grand jury) was one reason which caused the grouping of counties for the trial of Criminal Cases to be abandoned.

6. Order 36 Rule 22*b* shall be repealed, and causes may be entered at the Assize towns where causes are tried down to 6 P.M. on the day before the trial of causes is to begin.

7. The Judges of the Queen's Bench Division shall meet in the month of May or June in each year, and allocate to the Judges their respective work for the legal year, beginning on the 24th October then next.

8. The following are the centres (exclusive of London) to which a Judge is to go to transact civil business.

The figures denote the average number of causes tried at each assize during the last four years, 1888 to 1891, inclusive.

Liverpool	58½	Newcastle	13	Nottingham	7
Manchester	53½	Durham	11	Norwich	6
Leeds	56	Chester	9	Winchester	5
Birmingham	31	Exeter	8	Lincoln	3
Glamorgan	21	York	6	Carnarvon	3
Bristol	14	Carlisle	6	Bodmin	3

* Norwich, Lincoln, and Bodmin are not grouped because of their peculiar geographical position.

9. The following are the towns proposed to be grouped upon the above-mentioned centres and London.

The figures denote the average number of causes tried at each assize during the last four years, 1888 to 1891, inclusive, to each town.

QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION.

Procedure.

11. Within 14 days after appearance, Plaintiff shall apply either under Order XIV. or for directions.

12. Where there is an application under Order XIV., and the Judge on appeal from the Master considers there should be unconditional leave to defend, there shall be no further appeal. The costs of applications under Order XIV. should be decided and ordered to be paid at the time of the application in favour of one party or the other, or referred to the Judge at the trial: such costs, in case the trial does not take place, to be costs in the cause.

13. Where leave, whether conditional or unconditional, is given to defend, the Master is to have power to order the cause to be set down for trial, and to direct as to mode and place of trial. The Master should have power to order cases to be put into a special list and to forthwith.

14. No pleading shall be allowed without order.

15. Where summons is taken out for directions, the Master make orders as to:—

Pleadings,
Particulars,
Admissions,
Affidavits of Documents,
Inspection, including inspection of real or personal property,
Interrogatories,
Commissions,
Venue,
Mode of trial,

and all other interlocutory matters, except as otherwise provided.

Power should be given to the Master under Summons for Direct to order that evidence of particular facts should be given by affidavit of information and belief, or by production of documents, or copies of documents, or by entries in books.

16. If Resolution 15 be not followed, Plaintiff shall not be allowed to take any further proceedings without leave.

17. Any application for directions after the first shall be made under the original Summons for Directions by two days' notice stating grounds of application.

18. Any application which might have been made on the Summons for Directions shall, if granted on any subsequent application, be granted at the costs of the party so subsequently applying unless the Master otherwise direct.

19. Interrogatories shall not be allowed unless the Master thinks them necessary for the fair trial of the cause or for the saving of costs.

20. Affidavit of documents and inspection of documents shall be allowed, only when and to the extent to which the Master thinks it necessary for the fair trial of the cause or to save costs.

21. Inspection in the case of business books shall be replaced by an Affidavit, and by Extracts or Copies similar to those required under the Bankers Books Evidence Acts, unless the Master otherwise orders.

22. Where privilege is claimed the Master shall be at liberty to inspect the document.

23. If one party states on Affidavit his belief that the other party has or has had in his possession one or more specific documents relative to the matters in question, the other party shall say whether he has such document or documents in his possession; the statement to be verified by Affidavit if the Master so directs. This application may be made either before or after the Affidavit of Documents.

24. In cases intended to be appealed from the Master to the Judge, Appeal should be by notice without any further summons of Appeal.

25. Where an Appeal from the Master to the Judge is to be attended by Counsel on both sides it shall go into a list and shall be heard by a Judge in Court.

26. Where the Appeal is to be attended on one side by a Solicitor or a Solicitor's clerk it shall be heard by the Judge in Chambers.

27. The Judge in Chambers shall be at liberty, if he thinks fit, to transfer into Court a case appealed from the Master.

28. Neither the fact of a Defendant having paid money into Court nor the amount paid in shall be communicated to the jury by either side until after verdict given. The sole question at the trial shall be, how much is the Defendant to pay the Plaintiff for the admitted cause of action.

Mode and Place of Trial.

30. The mode of trial in the Queen's Bench Division shall be by a Judge without a jury, or by a Judge with a jury, or by a Judge with assessors; the mode to be determined on the Summons for Directions: Provided always, that in the following cases the right of either party to a trial by jury shall be absolute: libel, slander, seduction, false imprisonment, malicious prosecution, breach of promise of marriage.

31. The place of trial shall be at such town (where actions are tried) as shall be the least expensive and most convenient, subject to any statutes fixing the place of trial.

Commercial Court.

32. There shall be a cause list for London, headed the Commercial List.

33. In this list, none but Commercial Causes shall be entered.

34. The entry of causes in this list shall be allowed or disallowed by the Associate, who shall have power to refer the question to one of the Judges allocated to try this list, from whose determination there shall be no appeal.

35. In May or June of each year two Judges shall be chosen by the Judges of the Queen's Bench Division to try the causes in the "Commercial List" for the coming year beginning the 24th October.

36. These two Judges shall be continuously engaged in disposing of the causes in this List, except when they are engaged on Circuit.

37. This list shall be divided into two, and the causes in each of such lists shall be assigned to one of the two Judges, and then each shall try the causes assigned to him until he has finished his list.

38. It shall be competent to either Judge to expedite the hearing of a cause in his list, or to direct a transfer to the other Judge with the consent of the other Judge.

38A. That for this Commercial List a general jury panel should be formed of persons conversant with commercial matters.

CHANCERY DIVISION.

39. An additional Judge permanently attached to the Division is necessary for the disposal of the witness list.

40. A separate List shall be made out for each Court taking the witness list.

41. The Judges of the Chancery Division attach great importance to the preservation of the existing relations between themselves and their respective Chief Clerks. The Council does not recommend the disturbance of those relations so far as regards the office of Chief Clerk and as distinct from the amalgamation in other respects of the entire Chancery officers and staff, a measure of which the Council approves; and the Council is of opinion that a considerable saving of time and expense might be effected by carrying out the recommendations of the Committee of 1885 based on the 4th and 5th Resolutions to the Report then made. These were as follows:—

"4. That the whole administrative staff of the Chancery Division in London shall eventually be brought under the control of the several Chancery Judges, by attaching to each Judge a sufficient number of clerks to do all the business of Chancery causes and matters, including the drawing of orders and taxing of costs; the duties of such clerks and the distribution of business among them to be determined by rules to be made by the Judges of the Chancery Division.

"5. That in order to carry out the object of the last preceding resolution, power be taken by which on any vacancy occurring among the Registrars or Taxing Masters or their clerks, such vacancies shall be filled by appointing additional Chief and other clerks to act with the present Chief Clerks and their clerks.

"We have come to the conclusion that much time and expense would be saved if those who draw up decrees and orders, as the Registrars, and those who tax costs, as the Taxing Masters, were not so completely divided from the Chief Clerks and other officials of the Division, and if they were brought more under the control and supervision of the Judges. We therefore recommend, as in Resolutions 4 and 5, that by degrees the separate offices of Registrars and Taxing Masters should be abolished, clerks of equal qualifications being assigned to each Judge to perform their duties.

"At some future time it would probably appear that a new classification and arrangement of clerks should be made, but experience alone, we think, can indicate what changes should be made in this respect."

42. The four Judges, who have Chambers, and a staff of clerks, shall devote themselves in the first instance to the disposal of their non-witness lists and their motions, petitions, and Chamber work.

43. The summons for directions and other resolutions as to procedure shall apply, with necessary and proper modifications, to all actions commenced by writ in this Division other than actions specially assigned by the Judicature Acts to this Division. In cases assigned to the Chancery Division interlocutory proceedings, i.e., those which would be dealt with by a Master in the Queen's Bench Division shall be taken before a Chief Clerk as if he were a Master.

44. Where proceedings before a Chief Clerk are unduly delayed, he shall have power to disallow costs occasioned by such delay, and any costs so disallowed shall be disallowed on taxation as between the solicitor and the client.

45. The Chief Clerk shall at the beginning of each sittings make a report to the Judge of the cases in which he considers that there has been any undue delay in the proceedings before him in Chambers. The Judge shall have power to require the solicitor alleged to be in default to show cause why he should not pay the costs occasioned by the delay, and of the application. There shall be no appeal from any order of the Judge in any such matter.

46. Resolutions 22 and 23 shall apply to all actions in the Chancery Division.

The Powers of the Judge shall be extended in the following Cases:—

47. In cases relating to the distribution of a fund or property, whether in Court or out of Court, the Judge in person shall be at liberty, in order to avoid expense and delay, to accept or allow testimony of information and belief and such other evidence as, regard being had to the circumstances of the particular case, he shall consider reasonable. He may exercise this discretion, without any formal application, by giving directions to the Chief Clerk in the particular case as to the nature of the evidence to be accepted or allowed.

48. Where service of an order for accounts or inquiries is dispensed with the Judge in person may, if he thinks fit, direct that the persons as to whom service is dispensed with shall be bound as if served, and they shall be bound accordingly, except where the order has been obtained by fraud or non-disclosure of material facts.

49. Where under the existing Rules of Order LV. the Judge in person does not think fit to direct any additional persons to be served, such persons though not served shall be bound by the order if it so directs, except in cases where the order has been obtained by fraud or non-disclosure of material facts.

50. The power of the Judge to appoint persons to represent persons not before the Court shall be enlarged; for instance, he may appoint a person to represent the heir, where there is difficulty in ascertaining the heir or of serving him.

51. Where a compromise is proposed between some of the beneficiaries and a trustee sought to be charged and the Judge in person considers the compromise to be for the benefit of all concerned, his power shall be enlarged so as to bind absent beneficiaries.

52. In debenture holders' actions where the debentures create a charge, in actions for partition, and in all actions in which the Court can order a sale, the Judge in person may in his discretion direct a sale before judgment, and also after judgment, before all the persons interested are ascertained, whether served or not.

53. Order XVI. r. 8 shall be extended so as to apply to foreclosure actions against trustees.

Administration Actions, Reduction of Expense.

54. In order to obviate or lessen the expense of administration by the Court, the Judge in person shall have power to make an order for the administration of a deceased person's estate subject to the supervision of the Court. The order may be obtained on an originating summons by any creditor or person interested in the estate, or by the executors, administrators, or trustees of the deceased. The order may direct what steps, and by whom, shall be taken without further directions from the Court. In case of any difficulty arising, a summons to obtain the direction of the Judge shall be taken out.

55. The person named in such order shall be required, at the end of a time to be named, to send to the Chambers of the Judge who made the order an account with observations.

56. In cases of small estates the time for sending in this account shall be short.

57. The account shall show—

A. The assets realised and unrealised.
B. The funeral and testamentary expenses and probate and other other duties paid and unpaid.
C. The debts paid and unpaid.
D. The legacies paid and unpaid.
E. The residue distributed and undistributed.

This account shall be signed by the person named in the order, and where a solicitor is employed, it shall also be signed by him, and he shall certify that to the best of his belief it is correct. The solicitor shall not be changed without the leave of the Judge where any solicitor is employed. The account shall be filed in Court. A copy of it shall be kept by the solicitor in his office, and shall be open to the inspection of any persons interested in the estate, upon payment of a small fee. Any such person shall be at liberty to obtain a copy of it at his own expense.

58. Notice shall be given by advertisement or otherwise, as the Judge shall direct, of the account having been signed and filed. If after a certain time, to be fixed by the Judge, no application is made to him respecting the account, it shall be treated as final.

59. Arrangements should be made with the Inland Revenue for saving in these cases the expense of the ordinary residuary estate account, and for substituting this account for it.

60. The solicitor's costs shall be sent to the Chambers of the Judge who made the order, and be taxed on request from the Judge in Chambers; and the taxing master's certificate shall be the authority for their payment.

61. The Judge shall have power at any time to convert an order for administration under supervision into an order for administration by the Court.

62. A creditor shall not be allowed to obtain a judgment for himself alone, if the Defendant pleads that the estate is insolvent, and in the case the judgment shall be for administration, the case to be transferred to the Chancery Division; executors or administrators shall not be allowed to prefer one creditor to another unless there are assets enough for all.

63. The right of an executor or administrator to retain his own debt in preference to other creditors shall be abolished.

Other Matters.

64. The originating summons shall be extended to all cases construction of a deed, will, or other written instrument where declaration of right only without other relief (such as possession or like) is sought.

65. An originating summons shall be substituted for petition judgment creditor for sale under 27 and 28 Vict. c. 112, and an appearance shall be entered by the judgment debtor.

66. An originating summons shall be substituted for petition vesting order where new trustees have been appointed out of Court.

67. The method of drawing up judgments and orders by Registrars shall be simplified.

68. Office copies of the same shall be confined to the operative and such recitals and schedules as are necessary.

Service out of the Jurisdiction.

69. The Rules as to service on British subjects shall be extended

(1.) To originating summonses.
(2.) To orders in winding-up.
(3.) To petitions.
(4.) To a judgment or order, which under existing Rules is required to be served on persons other than the parties in whose presence judgment or order was made.
(5.) To applications under the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Acts, 1883–1888.

In cases of foreigners notice under the last-mentioned Acts may be served abroad.

AS TO COSTS.

70. The costs allowed in litigious matters shall be all those which have been reasonably incurred by the client.

71. No further costs shall be payable by the party to his solicitor, unless after full explanation he has chosen to incur them and has agreed to do so in writing to his solicitor.

72. Taxation in the Chancery and Queen's Bench Divisions shall be assimilated as far as practicable.

73. The present rules as to costs on the higher scale shall be abolished.

74. A Court or Judge shall be empowered at their discretion in the case of married women having separate estate without power of anticipation to compel payment of costs by them out of that separate estate to a party against whom they have unsuccessfully brought an action, counter-claim, or other proceeding.

As to Costs in the Chancery Division.

75. The costs occasioned by any unsuccessful claim or unsuccessful opposition to any claim to any property under any deed or will shall not be paid out of the estate, unless the Judge shall otherwise direct.

76. The costs of inquiries to ascertain the person or persons entitled to any legacy money or share of any fund shall be paid out of such legacy money or share, unless the Judge shall otherwise direct.

77. Where some of the persons entitled to a distributive share of a fund are ascertained, and difficulty or delay has occurred or is likely to occur in ascertaining the persons entitled to the other shares, the Court or a Judge may order or allow immediate payment of the shares to the persons ascertained, without reserving any part of those shares to answer the subsequent costs of ascertaining the persons entitled to the other shares. And in all such cases such order may be made for ascertaining and payment of the costs incurred down to and including such payment as to the Court or the Judge shall seem reasonable.

78. Stamps and fees should be revised and reduced wherever possible, and particularly in the administration of small estates.

APPEALS.

79. BRETT'S COMMENTARIES

ON THE

PRESENT LAWS OF ENGLAND

By THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; LL.B. London University; B.A., late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerke and Brett's Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883, and of Leading Cases in Modern Equity; and late Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"We are glad to observe in the present edition the marks of careful revision. . . . It is a comprehensive outline of existing English Law, contained in a marvellously small compass, well arranged and so contrived, by the insertion of illustrative cases and extracts, as to be interesting, instead of repulsive, to the student. On some subjects a list of leading recent cases is added, the effect of them being shortly stated. The account of the Settled Land Acts, at pp. 145–156, may be commended as a very good piece of exposition. The index has been improved, and a word must be said as to the attractive type and convenient size of the volumes."—Solicitors' Journal.

"The success which we predicted for this book on its first appearance, only a year ago, seems to be now fully assured, for we already have before us a second edition. . . . Mr. Brett is singularly fortunate in being called upon so soon to bring out a new edition, because he has thus been afforded an opportunity of availing himself of the suggestions of his friends and the criticism of his reviewers, of correcting the errors which were inevitable in a first edition, and of incorporating the numerous Acts which have, since the publication of his first edition, been placed upon the statute-book by an exceptionally active Legislature."—Law Journal.

"The compilation has been done with care, and the new edition is up to date, and is altered to include the legislation of last session."—Law Notes.

TENEMENT HOUSES AND FLATS (The Law Relating to), for Residential or Business purposes, including the Taxation and Rating thereof. With an Appendix of Precedents of Leases, Forms, and a Digest of Cases relating to the Inhabited House Duty. By WALTER CLODE, Barrister-at-Law, of the Inner Temple, Associate of the Surveyors' Institution, Author of "The Law and Practice of Petition of Right."

"The growing habit of building monstrous houses, principally accessible only by means of lifts, has already had results conspicuous enough to justify the writing of a text-book on the legal rights and responsibilities of persons who have to do with them. . . . The whole volume appears to have been written with the same learning and judgment which characterize his former book about 'petitions of right.'"—Saturday Review.

"The great increase in recent years in the number of residential flats. . . . renders this book likely to be extremely useful."—Law Times.

"This is an interesting subject upon which Mr. Clode has written an interesting book. . . . The impulse which has been given recently to the building of flats in London and elsewhere increases the value of Mr. Clode's book which will be found accurate and practical."—Law Journal.

"The increase in the number of residential buildings known popularly as 'flats,' makes the present time opportune for the publication of a legal work on this subject."—Builder.

LEADING CASES IN MODERN EQUITY.

By THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, LL.B.; London University, B.A.; late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerke and Brett's Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883; and Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Specially recommended as a text-book for 'The Final.'"—Solicitors' Journal, Jan. 21, 1888.

"Deserves high praise for the care and judgment evinced in its execution. Mr. Brett's index appears to be copious and complete."—Law Times.

"We have laid Mr. Brett's book down with none but favourable and pleasurable feelings at the excellent manner in which he has accomplished his task. It is of the very first importance both to the student and the practitioner to have the principles of Equity collected in a handy form, and this want Mr. Brett has supplied. The notes to the cases are admirable in manner and lucid in language; and no little pains seem to have been bestowed in the arrangement of the cases themselves."—Law Magazine.

"Must prove of immense value to the profession. Mr. Brett has done all in his power to help students and practitioners by as far as possible grouping together the cases dealing with the same classes of subjects. Among the more important matter decided will be found cases relating to trusts and trustees, mortgages, partnerships the relations between solicitors and clients, married women's property, and the religious education of children. A good index adds considerably to the usefulness of the work."—Daily Chronicle.

"The manner in which most of the cases are stated is admirable, being clear, concise, and well expressed. As it is, we have no hesitation in saying that there is no better book, or one so good, from which the student can learn the most important decisions of courts of equity during recent years."—The Jurist.

". . . . We have carefully gone through this volume, and have no hesitation in expressing a high opinion of its merits. It is learned and accurate, and must displace all earlier text-writers on the same subject."—Law Times.

"Mr. Shortt has performed a work of great utility in collecting the available learning on these topics. . . . It is learned . . . . clearly written and well arranged . . . . the book is necessary to the common lawyer's complete library."—Saturday Review.

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver....His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mint of camp or gisinguette, and lively audacious turns φωνεντα συνετοισιν undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review

THE HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH CONSTITUTION. By Dr. Rudolf Gneist, Professor of Law in the University of Berlin. Translated by Philip A. Ashworth, of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"No foreigner has done more than Professor Gneist to examine and make clear the history and nature of the English Constitution....He discusses such vital questions as, Whither are we drifting? How far do recent changes in the franchise accord with the whole spirit of the Constitution? What is in store for us with democracy supreme? On such questions as these the opinion of a foreigner, who is a scholar but no bookworm, and who has sedulously studied our institutions, is certainly much more valuable than that of most Englishmen.....At this time these volumes are especially instructive. They cast light on almost all the great questions of current politics."—Times.

STEPHEN'S

COUNTY COURT ACTS, ORDERS, AND PRACTICE.

According to the scheme of the work, the Rules are printed immediately after the respective sections of the several enactments to which they particularly relate, thereby enabling the reader to see at a glance, Section, Rules, and Notes thereon.

By HENRY STEPHEN, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.
Editor of the Ninth Edition of "Stephen's Commentaries," and Joint Author of "The County Council Compendium;" and REGINALD ARTHUR STEPHEN, Registrar of the Lincoln County Court.

"The peculiarity of the book is the novel scheme which has been adopted, and which we think will prove most acceptable to the busy practitioner and will save him much of his valuable time. . . . . The idea is a happy one, and its undoubted labour and time saving tendency should recommend the book to solicitors . . . . in fact, everything is done to assist the practitioner."—Law Notes.

BRETT'S COMMENTARIES

ON THE

PRESENT LAWS OF ENGLAND.

By THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; LL.B. London University; B.A., late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerke and Brett's Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883, and of Leading Cases in Modern Equity; and late Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"We are glad to observe in the present edition the marks of careful revision. . . . It is a comprehensive outline of existing English Law, contained in a marvellously small compass, well arranged and so contrived, by the insertion of illustrative cases and extracts, as to be interesting, instead of repulsive, to the student. On some subjects a list of leading recent cases is added, the effect of them being shortly stated. The account of the Settled Land Acts, at pp. 145–156, may be commended as a very good piece of exposition. The index has been improved, and a word must be said as to the attractive type and convenient size of the volumes."—Solicitors' Journal.

"The success which we predicted for this book on its first appearance, only a year ago, seems to be now fully assured, for we already have before us a second edition. . . . Mr. Brett is singularly fortunate in being called upon so soon to bring out a new edition, because he has thus been afforded an opportunity of availing himself of the suggestions of his friends and the criticism of his reviewers, correcting the errors which were inevitable in a first edition, and of incorporating the numerous Acts which have, since the publication of his first edition, been placed upon the statute-book by an exceedingly active Legislature."—Law Journal.

"The compilation has been done with care, and the new edition is up to date, and is altered to include the legislation of last session."—Law Notes.

EMDEN'S PRACTICE AND FORMS IN WINDING-UP COMPANIES

A Concise and Practical Treatise upon the Law and Practice relating to the Winding-up of Companies from the commencement of the Winding-up Proceedings to Dissolution, with a Chapter on Reconstruction.

BY

ALFRED EMDEN,

OF THE INNER TEMPLE, ESQ., BARRISTER-AT-LAW; AUTHOR OF "THE LAW RELATING TO BUILDING, BUILDING LEASES, AND BUILDING CONTRACTS," "A COMPLETE COLLECTION OF PRACTICE STATUTES, ORDERS, AND RULES," "SHAREHOLDER'S LEGAL GUIDE," ETC.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.—PREVIOUS EDITIONS.

"The authorities are brought down to date, and the whole work is thoroughly well done. . . . . We have rarely met with a work in which so much pains have been taken not only to set forth the whole of the law and practice to which it relates, but to do so in the most lucid and concise manner. The book will be of great assistance to all who are concerned in the Winding-up of Companies, particularly to those who are comparatively new to the work. If the practitioner goes wrong with Mr. Emden's book in his hand it will be his own fault."—Law Times.

"We think the arrangement of this book is very good. Each step in winding-up proceedings is traced. . . . . The statutes are printed at length in the appendix. . . . . There is a very good time table, and also a convenient tabulated summary of the leading cases upon the liability of contributories. . . . . The work is brought complete to date. With regard to the treatment of the very numerous cases with which company law abounds, it is always intelligent, and the style is easy and perspicuous."—Law Journal.

"Mr. Emden is already well known as a legal author, and his work on the winding-up of companies will, we think, increase his reputation. This treatise is judiciously confined to the important branch of company law which relates to 'winding-up'; and the author is thereby enabled, within the compass of a moderate volume, to supply the practitioner with a very complete work. In arrangement, little is left to be desired; and, by variations of type and marginal references, the eye is assisted in its search for any particular subject. The appendix of forms cannot fail to be practically useful."—Solicitors' Journal.

"The peculiarity of the book is the novel scheme which has been adopted, and which we think will prove most acceptable to practitioner and will save him much of his valuable time. . . . . The idea is a happy one, and its undoubted labour and time tendency should recommend the book to solicitors . . . . in fact, everything is done to assist the practitioner."—Law Notes.

LEADING CASES IN MODERN EQUITY.

BY THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, LL.B.; London University, B.A.; late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerke and Brett's Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883; and Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Specially recommended as a text-book for 'The Final.'"—Solicitors' Journal, Jan. 21, 1888.

"Deserves high praise for the care and judgment evinced in its execution. Mr. Brett's index appears to be copious and complete."—Law Times.

"We have laid Mr Brett's book down with none but favourable and pleasurable feelings at the excellent manner in which he has accomplished his task. It is of the very first importance both to the student and the practitioner to have the principles of Equity collected in a handy form, and this want Mr. Brett has supplied. The notes to the cases are admirable in manner and lucid in language; and no little pains seem to have been bestowed in the arrangement of the cases themselves."—Law Magazine.

"Must prove of immense value to the profession. Mr. Brett has done all in his power to help students and practitioners by as far as possible grouping together the cases dealing with the same classes of subjects. Among the more important matter decided will be found cases relating to trusts and trustees, mortgages, partnerships the relations between solicitors and clients, married women's property, and the religious education of children. A good index adds considerably to the usefulness of the work."—Daily Chronicle.

"The manner in which most of the cases are stated is admirable, being clear, concise, and well expressed. As it is, we have no hesitation in saying that there is no better book, or one so good, from which the student can learn the most important decisions of courts of equity during recent years."—The Jurist.

BRETT'S COMMENTARIES

ON THE

PRESENT LAWS OF ENGLAND

By THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; LL.B. London University; B.A., late Scholar and Student of Trinity Coll Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerke and Brett's Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883, and of Leading Cases in Modern Equity; and late Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"We are glad to observe in the present edition the marks of careful revision. . . . It is a comprehensive outline of existing English Law, contained in a marvellously small compass, well arranged and so contrived, by the insertion of illustrative cases and extracts, as to be interesting, instead of repulsive, to the student. On some subjects a list of leading recent cases is added, the effect of them being shortly stated. The account of the Settled Land Acts, at pp. 145–156, may be commended as a very good piece of exposition. The index has been improved, and a word must be said as to the attractive type and convenient size of the volumes."—Solicitors' Journal.

"The success which we predicted for this book on its first appearance, only a year ago, seems to be now fully assured, for we already have before us a second edition. . . . Mr. Brett is [illegible] fortunate in being called upon so soon to bring out a new [illegible] because he has thus been afforded an opportunity of availing [illegible] of the suggestions of his friends and the criticism of his re[illegible] correcting the errors which were inevitable in a first edition, [illegible] of incorporating the numerous Acts which have, since the pu[illegible] of his first edition, been placed upon the statute-book by an ex[illegible] active Legislature."—Law Journal.

"The compilation has been done with care, and the new [illegible] up to date, and is altered to include the legislation of last sess[illegible] Law Notes.

EMDEN'S PRACTICE AND FORMS IN WINDING-UP COMPANI[illegible]

A Concise and Practical Treatise upon the Law and Practice relating to the Winding-up Companies from the commencement of the Winding-up Proceedings to Dissolution, with a Chapter on Reconstruction.

BY

MR. REGISTRAR EMDEN,

OF THE INNER TEMPLE, ESQ., BARRISTER-AT-LAW; AUTHOR OF "THE LAW RELATING TO BUILDING, BUILDING LEASES, AND BUILDING CONTRACTS," "A COMPLETE COLLECTION OF PRACTICE STATUTES, ORDERS, AND RULES," "SHAREHOLDER'S LEGAL GUIDE," ETC.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.—PREVIOUS EDITIONS.

"The authorities are brought down to date, and the whole work is thoroughly well done. . . . . We have rarely met with a work in which so much pains have been taken not only to set forth the whole of the law and practice to which it relates, but to do so in the most lucid and concise manner. The book will be of great assistance to all who are concerned in the Winding-up of Companies, particularly to those who are comparatively new to the work. If the practitioner goes wrong with Mr. Emden's book in his hand it will be his own fault."—Law Times.

"We think the arrangement of this book is very good. Each step in winding-up proceedings is traced. . . . . The statutes are printed at length in the appendix. . . . . There is a very good time table, and also a convenient tabulated summary of the leading cases upon the liability of contributories. . . . . The work is brought compl[illegible] to date. With regard to the treatment of the very numerou[illegible] with which company law abounds, it is always intelligent, [illegible] style is easy and perspicuous."—Law Journal.

"Mr. Emden is already well known as a legal author, and h[illegible] on the winding-up of companies will, we think, increase his repu[illegible] This treatise is judiciously confined to the important bra[illegible] company law which relates to 'winding-up'; and the au[illegible] thereby enabled, within the compass of a moderate volume, to [illegible] the practitioner with a very complete work. In arrangement, [illegible] left to be desired; and, by variations of type and marginal re[illegible] the eye is assisted in its search for any particular subject. The [illegible] dix of forms cannot fail to be practically useful."—Solicitors' Jo[illegible]

How far do recent changes in the franchise accord with the whole spirit of the Constitution? What is in store for us with democracy on the throne? On such questions as these the opinion of a foreigner, who is a scholar but no bookworm, and who has sedulously studied our institutions, is certainly much more valuable than that of most Englishmen.....At this time these volumes are especially instructive. STEPHEN'S

COUNTY COURT ACTS, ORDERS, AND PRACTICE.

According to the scheme of the work, the Rules are printed immediately after the respective sections of the several enactments to which they particularly relate, thereby enabling the reader to see at a glance, Section, Rules, and Notes thereon.

By HENRY STEPHEN, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.
Editor of the Ninth Edition of "Stephen's Commentaries," and Joint Author of "The County Council Compendium;" and REGINALD ARTHUR STEPHEN, Registrar of the Lincoln County Court.

"The peculiarity of the book is the novel scheme which has been adopted, and which we think will prove most acceptable to the busy practitioner and will save him much of his valuable time. . . . . The idea is a happy one, and its undoubted labour and time saving tendency should recommend the book to solicitors . . . . in fact, everything is done to assist the practitioner."—Law Notes.

LEADING CASES IN MODERN EQUITY

By THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, LL.B.; London University, B.A.; late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Exhibitioner in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clarke and Brett on Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883; and Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Specially recommended as a text-book for 'The Final.'"—Solicitors' Journal, Jan. 21, 1888.

"Deserves high praise for the care and judgment evinced in its execution. Mr. Brett's index appears to be copious and complete."—Law Times.

"We have laid Mr. Brett's book down with none but favourable and pleasurable feelings at the excellent manner in which he has accomplished his task. It is of the very first importance both to the student and the practitioner to have the principles of Equity collected in a handy form, and this want Mr. Brett has supplied. The notes to the cases are admirable in manner and lucid in language; and no little pains seem to have been bestowed in the arrangement of the cases themselves."—Law Magazine.

"Must prove of immense value to the profession. Mr. Brett has done all in his power to help students and practitioners by as far as possible grouping together cases dealing with the same classes of subjects. Among the more important matters decided will be found cases relating to trusts and trustees, mortgages, partnership, relations between solicitors and clients, married women's property, and the education of children. A good index adds considerably to the usefulness of the work."—Daily Chronicle.

"The manner in which most of the cases are stated is admirable, being clear, concise and well expressed. As it is, we have no hesitation in saying that there is no [better] book, or one so good, from which the student can learn the most important [decisions] of courts of equity during recent years."—The Jurist.

THE HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH CONSTITUTION. By Dr. Rudolph Gneist, Professor of Law in the University of Berlin. Translated by Philip A. Ashworth, of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"No foreigner has done more than Professor Gneist to examine and make clear the history and nature of the English Constitution....He discusses such vital questions as, Whither are we drifting? How far do recent changes in the franchise accord with the whole spirit of the Constitution? What is in store for us with democracy supreme? On such questions as these the opinion of a foreigner, who is a scholar but no bookworm, and who has sedulously studied our institutions, is certainly much more valuable than that of most Englishmen.....At this time these volumes are especially instructive. They cast light on almost all the great questions of current politics."—Times.

LEADING CASES IN MODERN EQUIT

By THOMAS BRETT,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, LL.B.; London University, B.A.; late Scholar and Student of Trinity College, Dublin; Ex... in Real Property and Equity; Holder of the First Certificate of Honour, Michaelmas, 1869; Joint Author of Clerke and ... Conveyancing Acts; Author of Brett's Bankruptcy Act, 1883; and Lecturer in Equity to the Incorporated Law Society.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Specially recommended as a text-book for 'The Final.'"—Solicitors' Journal, Jan. 21, 1888.

"Deserves high praise for the care and judgment evinced in its execution. Mr. Brett's index appears to be copious and complete."—Law Times.

"We have laid Mr. Brett's book down with none but favourable and pleasurable feelings at the excellent manner in which he has accomplished his task. It is of the very first importance both to the student and the practitioner to have the principles of Equity collected in a handy form, and this want Mr. Brett has supplied. The notes to the cases are admirable in manner and lucid in language; and no little pains seem to have been bestowed in the arrangement of the cases themselves."—Law Magazine.

"Must prove of immense value to the profession. Mr. Brett has done all ... power to help students and practitioners by as far as possible grouping ... cases dealing with the same classes of subjects. Among the more important ... decided will be found cases relating to trusts and trustees, mortgages, partnership ... relations between solicitors and clients, married women's property, and the ... education of children. A good index adds considerably to the usefulness of ... —Daily Chronicle.

"The manner in which most of the cases are stated is admirable, being clear ... and well expressed. As it is, we have no hesitation in saying that there is no ... book, or one so good, from which the student can learn the most important ... of courts of equity during recent years."—The Jurist.

How far do recent changes in the franchise accord with the whole spirit of the Constitution? What is in store for us with democracy supreme? On such questions as these the opinion of a foreigner, who is a scholar but no bookworm, and who has sedulously studied our institutions, is certainly much more valuable than that of most Englishmen.....At this time these volumes are especially instructive. On applications for Injunctions, in addition to the above, a Copy of the Writ, and a Certificate of Writ issued, must also be sent.

The Papers sent to the Judge will be returned to the Registrar.

The Chambers of Mr. Justice North will be open on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in every week, from 10 to 2 o'clock. THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONA

By J. C. TARVER, Late French Master, Eton College.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver....His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name a recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged ing the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables from camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns [illegible] forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarter

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver....His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name a recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it ing the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns [illegible] forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly

On such questions as these the opinion of a foreigner, who is a scholar but no bookworm, and who has sedulously studied our institutions, is certainly much more valuable than that of most Englishmen.....At this time these volumes are especially instructive. They cast light on almost all the great questions of current politics."—Times.
